GENERAL PROCEDURES AND STRUCTURE

The activities of the AICPA are varied and categorized by areas of interest to its members. Most of these activities are conducted by or under the supervision of committees. Currently, there are over 150 committees, task forces, and boards. To avoid overlapping or duplication of effort and to maintain consistency in general policies, it is essential for all activities to be coordinated as effectively as possible. This manual sets forth the structure of the Tax Division and the procedures to be followed to effectively coordinate its activities.

DIVISION ORGANIZATION

The Tax Division consists of AICPA members who have joined by application and payment of dues. Individuals are, in turn, appointed from the membership to serve on the various subcommittees and task forces of the division. Thus, the Tax Division consists of the AICPA members who have elected to join an executive committee, constituent subcommittees, task forces, and the AICPA Tax Division staff.

Objectives

The Tax Division serves the interests of the accounting profession in the area of taxes. These interests include the following efforts:

- To help Congress and the federal administration develop a fair, effective tax system
- To develop appropriate tax policy positions for the accounting profession
- To provide guidance on good standards of tax practice for CPAs
- To protect the right of the CPA to engage in the practice of taxation without encroaching on the rights of others
- To inform the public of the role of the CPA in tax practice
- To assist CPAs in the area of tax practice management
- To maintain and improve the quality of tax education for CPAs
- To publish studies that contribute to the general body of tax knowledge and a sophisticated, useful monthly tax magazine
- To hold semiannual division meetings to share the tax knowledge of practitioners
- To maintain harmonious relations with state societies and other organizations in the area of taxes
- To underscore the preeminent role of CPAs in taxes and heighten the reputation of the profession as a whole
- To provide an opportunity for a large number of AICPA members to participate in tax activities and to provide them with information on tax developments
- To motivate members to maintain a high level of performance in tax practice through increased association with their professional peers

These interests generally coincide with those of legislators, tax administrators, and the public. The Tax Division organizes the efforts of the accounting profession to serve these goals.

AICPA Terminology

The Tax Division follows the AICPA organizational structure and terminology detailed in the Committee Handbook that is distributed to all AICPA committee members. The following terms apply to the Tax Division as well.

Division. A division is the combination of executive committee, subcommittees, task forces, and staff having responsibility for a major area of activity and assigned divisional status by the Chairman of the Board with the concurrence of the Board of Directors when required by the bylaws. The Tax Division also includes AICPA members who have elected to join.

Executive Committee. An executive committee is the standing parent group responsible for policy-setting in an area of activity that has been assigned divisional status. Executive committee members are appointed by the Chairman of the Board with the concurrence of the Board of Directors when required by the bylaws.

Subcommittee. A subcommittee is a standing group that may be entirely or partially composed of some of the members of the related executive committee or may be composed entirely of other persons. Subcommittees shall be appointed by the Chairman of the Board, except that a planning subcommittee may be appointed by the chairman of the related executive committee. The work of a subcommittee is subject to overall review by the related executive committee or committee.

Task Force. A task force is a group appointed to undertake a specific project and will terminate on the completion of its assignment. It may be entirely or partially composed of some of the members of the related executive committee (or subcommittee) or may be composed entirely of other persons. A task force is appointed by and reports to the chairman of the related executive committee (or subcommittee).

Executive Committee

The executive committee has general authority to act in the area of taxes on behalf of the AICPA. It plans, initiates, supervises, and coordinates all projects, programs, and activities of the division. The committee approves or disapproves all policy recommendations of the subcommittees and authorizes all statements made by the AICPA in the area of taxes.

The executive committee comprises a chairman and members. The members need not be — but generally are — chairmen of constituent subcommittees of the division. The executive committee is appointed annually by the Chairman of the AICPA Board of Directors.

The division vice-president and directors have AICPA staff responsibility for the executive committee and have the privilege of the floor at its meetings.

Subcommittees

The constituent subcommittees of the division are identified in the back of the manual along with statements of their objectives, and lists of their members and the assigned AICPA staff persons. To assist in coordinating the efforts of the various technical subcommittees, sections of the Internal Revenue Code and related Treasury Regulations have been assigned. Each technical subcommittee has general jurisdiction over tax legislation and administration within its assigned code sections.

GENERAL PROCEDURES AND STRUCTURE

Each subcommittee has a chairman and members. The chairman and subcommittee members are appointed annually by the Chairman of the AICPA Board of Directors. The subcommittee chairman is to actively direct the work of the subcommittee with available staff assistance. The chairman has full responsibility for the completion of projects and for presenting them to the executive committee in final form. The chairman will follow up on the activities of the subcommittee and schedule as many meetings as may be required to complete assignments. The chairman should encourage full member participation in the activities of the subcommittee. Where desirable, the chairman should recommend the establishment of task forces to handle special projects for the subcommittee.

Subcommittee members are responsible for attending all subcommittee meetings, for the timely completion of assigned tasks, and for suggesting items for consideration by the division.

A staff manager, supervised by a division director, has AICPA staff responsibility for each subcommittee. The responsible staff manager and division director have the privilege of the floor at meetings of the subcommittee.

Task Forces

Task forces are appointed by the chairman of the executive committee to undertake a specific project of limited duration. Generally, task forces are established upon the recommendation of the subcommittee which has general responsibility for the area of work of the task force. A task force is composed of a chairman and members and is supervised by and reports to the subcommittee that has general responsibility for its area of work. Task force members may attend meetings of the subcommittee to which the task force reports on the same basis as members of that subcommittee except that they do not vote. The AICPA staff member who assists the supervising subcommittee will also assist the task force.

Tax Division Members

In joining the Tax Division, AICPA members are given the opportunity to be associated with one or more of the subcommittees in which they may be especially interested. With this association, members so specifying will receive the agenda and minutes of those subcommittees and are welcome to attend the subcommittee meetings of their choice as observers. Votes on tax issues and subcommittee recommendations will be limited to appointed subcommittee members. All members may participate: by suggesting matters that should be considered; by discussing various alternatives, ideas, viewpoints, and perceptions at the meetings; and by contributing to subcommittee projects from time to time. Accordingly, time will be set aside at each meeting for comments from the floor by those members who are observing the meeting. However, subcommittee chairmen will have the discretion of expanding or limiting discussion at meetings in the interest of time constraints. Written communication about subcommittee matters is also encouraged.

GENERAL PROCEDURES AND STRUCTURE

Division members should consider applying for subcommittee appointments of their choice. Recommendations for committee appointments will be made from division members.

Generally, the Tax Division follows the policy that appointed members should have a break in service after a three-year term, except in unusual circumstances determined at the discretion of the executive committee chairman. Therefore, no member should be continued on a subcommittee beyond three years or rotated after three years to another subcommittee, unless the individual is appointed to chair a subcommittee.

In addition, a member should not be appointed to a subcommittee after serving any prior term as chairman of that same subcommittee, except in unusual circumstances at the discretion of the executive committee chairman. (This statement does not apply to task forces.) This policy serves to provide opportunities for more members seeking appointments to serve on subcommittees.

PUBLIC INFORMATION AND COMMUNICATIONS

In accordance with the authority of the Tax Division Executive Committee to act for the AICPA in the area of taxes, it is essential that statements to all outside groups that may be attributed to the AICPA be reviewed and approved by the executive committee.

The basis of the executive committee authority is a resolution adopted by the AICPA Board of Directors at its meeting on July 13-14, 1970. The text follows:

WHEREAS, the accounting principles board, the committee on auditing procedure (currently the executive committees of the accounting and auditing standards divisions), and the executive committees of the divisions of federal taxation, management advisory services, and professional ethics — herein referred to as 'senior technical committees' — have been delegated authority by the Council of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants to make public statements in their respective areas of specialization in accounting; and

WHEREAS, many other committees, particularly those cooperating with government agencies and other bodies, are required to give consideration to accounting problems in their activities; and

WHEREAS, consistency in all public statements issued in the name of the Institute is obviously desirable.

BE IT RESOLVED:

- (1) No committee shall make public statements on accounting matters not yet covered by recommendations or pronouncements of senior technical committees without prior review by the chairman of the senior technical committee authorized to make such decision or by members of that senior technical committee whom the chairman may designate. The purpose of the review is to preclude public statements that may be inconsistent with those previously made or under consideration by senior technical committees.

- (2) Subject to the limitation of paragraph (1) committees may confer or correspond with any appropriate party about technical problems, existing standards, recommendations or pronouncements of senior technical committees, and any other matters which the committee believes pertinent to the subject which it has under consideration.

Accordingly, without clearance from the AICPA Council or Board of Directors, the Tax Division is authorized to make public statements on matters related to taxes, including tax legislation, tax administration, statements on CPA responsibilities in tax practice, and information to assist CPAs in maintaining and increasing their proficiency in taxes. All statements involving policy or technical matters issued on the authority of the division should clearly be identified as an AICPA position. Subcommittees must clear all policy recommendations with the executive committee.

In accordance with this policy, Tax Division members should make clear that, in public addresses on tax matters, they are not speaking on behalf of the AICPA or its Tax Division unless all clearance procedures have been finalized.

All press releases and similar communications made on behalf of the Institute to reporters and financial writers shall be channeled through the division director to the AICPA Executive Committee for clearance.

DIVISION REPRESENTATION AND VOTING PROCEDURES

To fulfill its responsibility to comment for the AICPA on tax matters, the division has developed voting and clearance procedures to adequately represent the views of AICPA members.

.01 Positions taken on tax matters by the division become the official positions of the AICPA. Therefore, division members are serving the entire profession and must place public interests above self or specific client interests.

.02 Where a motion proposes a policy position for the division, it must be approved by both the responsible subcommittee and the executive committee. The chairman of the body considering the motion is authorized to determine whether or not the motion proposes a policy position for the division. To consider a motion that proposes a policy position for the division, a quorum of two-thirds or more of the total membership of the body must be present. If a quorum is present, a favorable vote of two-thirds or more of those present, but not less than a majority of the total membership of the body, is required to carry a motion.

.03 In appropriate circumstances, the executive committee is authorized to act without prior subcommittee consideration. Such circumstances might occur when severe time limitations exist. The chairman of the executive committee is authorized to decide when such appropriate circumstances exist. The executive committee may also act alone in its capacity as adviser on Institute matters when it has been directed by the AICPA Council or the Board of Directors to review a proposal.

.04 It is generally desirable to have the benefit of open committee discussion prior to voting on issues. However, where necessary for timely action or where deemed appropriate by the chairman of the executive committee or subcommittee, individual polling of members by mail or telephone may be used. When a telephone poll is conducted, a conference call should be utilized if feasible. To the extent possible, the appropriate subcommittee chairman should be a party to such conference call. A motion that proposes a policy position must then be approved by a vote of two-thirds or more of the total membership of the body. When this procedure is used, issues must be clearly specified and sufficient information provided to allow members to vote in an informed manner.

.05 Severe time constraints have often been experienced in the area of proposed tax legislation. In the normal course of events, the AICPA staff will review proposed legislation for bills of interest and refer selected items to the appropriate subcommittee for consideration. Subcommittees will develop comments for recommendation to the executive committee. In urgent situations in which prompt action is necessary, however, other special procedures may need to be utilized, such as conference calls.

.06 Where comments will cover only technical aspects of legislation, the procedures used for commenting on proposed regulations should generally be applied. Such procedures are outlined in paragraphs .10-.18. If policy issues are involved about which the division has not previously taken a position, the voting procedures used for the development of a policy position of the division will be applied before such comment is made. It is preferable to apply the formal voting procedures whenever it is possible to do so.

.07 If the division has approved a policy position that is the subject of proposed legislation, comments or testimony may be given subject only to the approval by the chairman of the executive committee. However, under such circumstances, where feasible, a draft of such comments or testimony should be circulated, in advance, to other members of the executive committee.

.08 At its discretion, the executive committee may also submit a proposed policy position to the members of the division for an "advisory poll" before final action is taken.

.09 The Tax Division is also involved in a program of publishing a series of Statements on Responsibilities in Tax Practice. Such statements must be approved by two-thirds or more of the full membership of the Subcommittee on Responsibilities in Tax Practice and two-thirds of the full membership of the executive committee.

AICPA STAFF

The AICPA staff, under the direction of the division director, shall —

1. Carry out the general policies of the AICPA.
2. Assist with the work of the division in general.

GENERAL PROCEDURES AND STRUCTURE

3. Make recommendations of appropriate activities for the division.
4. Alert the division to situations warranting attention, including proposed legislation and regulations.
5. Maintain liaison with Congress and the administration, with state societies, and with various tax-oriented organizations.
6. Represent the division when authorized by the chairman of the executive committee.
7. Make meeting plans and arrangements.
8. Assist in the preparation of agendas and minutes of meetings.
9. Complete other tasks as assigned by the chairman of the executive committee or the executive staff of the AICPA.
10. Provide information to Tax Division members on division activities and serve their needs.
11. Publish a quarterly newsletter.

TAX LEGISLATION MATTERS

Tax Legislative Studies

The division studies areas of the Internal Revenue Code for possible recommendations for major and minor revisions. Major studies have included Alternatives to the Present Tax System for Increasing Savings and Investment; A Proposal for the Complete Revision of Subchapter S Corporation Provisions; Recommendations for the Complete Revision of Subchapter K, Fringe Benefits: A Proposal for the Future; Tax Recommendations to Aid Small Business; and Underreported Taxable Income: The Problems and Possible Solutions.

Tax Legislation Liaison

The staff, along with the Legislative Affairs Subcommittee and the chairman of the executive committee, maintains a liaison with Congress in an effort to learn of developing legislation and to be prepared to comment effectively on legislative proposals.

Meetings are scheduled with members and the staff of the congressional tax-writing committees, as needed, to discuss tax legislative issues of interest to the AICPA and to inform Congress of our work in the area of taxes. Periodic meetings are also held with members of the administration to assist in developing administration tax proposals.

Comments on Proposed Tax Legislation

The chairman of the executive committee usually represents the division before Congress. When the occasion warrants, other members of the division will be called upon to assist the chairman. The chairman can authorize testimony bearing on technical aspects of proposed legislation based upon procedures outlined under division representation and voting matters in paragraphs .01-.09. Except in unusual circumstances, the division will not testify beyond the technical aspects of proposed legislation, unless the testimony reflects positions that have been adopted by the division. The chairman is authorized to decide when the unusual circumstances are present and when the matters are technical in nature.

No individual or group of individuals is authorized to represent the division (or any subcommittee or task force thereof) before Congress without the approval of the chairman of the executive committee. Firm affiliation should be excluded from testimony when members appear before congressional committees on behalf of the AICPA and should be provided orally only if requested. Likewise, no reference should be made to AICPA Tax Division affiliation when members testify on their own behalf or for their firm, except as used in a list of credentials. The division director will inform the Vice-President, Government Relations, in advance of statements to be made to any branch of the federal government.

Where testimony on the policy aspects of proposed tax legislation is involved, the procedures outlined in paragraphs .02-.04 will be followed. Where testimony relates to the technical aspects of proposed legislation, the procedures outlined in paragraphs .10-.17 below should generally be applied.

Comments on proposed legislation are normally submitted to the congressional committee considering the bill, to the staff of the Joint Committee on Taxation, to key administration officials, and to other interested parties.

TAX ADMINISTRATION MATTERS

Review of Proposed Regulations

An important part of the division's work in tax administration is the review of proposed regulations. The following procedures are applied.

.10 After staff review of all proposed regulations, those that may be of interest are sent to the appropriate subcommittee chairman by the AICPA staff. Subcommittee chairmen review the proposed regulations and notify the staff as to whether or not the division should submit comments. If comments are to be submitted, a coordinator and two reviewers will be selected by the chairman. If comments are not to be submitted, the chairman is to briefly indicate to the staff, in writing, the reasons for not commenting.

.11 The staff will send copies of the proposed regulations and assignment letters to the reviewers and the coordinator. The assignment letter will contain a reasonable timetable for the completion of the review procedures and the timely submission of comments. Copies of the assignment letters will be sent to all members of the subcommittee. If any member of the subcommittee wishes to assist in developing comments, he or she may send comments to the coordinator by the appropriate due date for assigned reviewers.

.12 The reviewers should determine if the proposed regulations contain —

- Requirements not supported by statutory authority.
- Errors in statutory interpretation.
- Points that are unclear or ambiguous.
- Omissions.

GENERAL PROCEDURES AND STRUCTURE

- Aspects which could be modified to aid in tax administration.
- Other matters that deserve comment.

.13 Each reviewer should prepare comments in the format shown in Appendix A and submit copies to the other reviewer, the coordinator, the subcommittee chairman, and the responsible AICPA staff members.

.14 The coordinator should review the proposed regulations in the manner prescribed for reviewers, consolidate and edit the reviewers' comments, and submit copies to the reviewers, the subcommittee chairman, the chairman of the executive committee, and the staff person assigned to the subcommittee.

.15 The subcommittee chairman should edit and review the work of the coordinator, and thereafter should submit a final copy of the proposed comments to members of the executive committee, the reviewers, the coordinator, and the staff person assigned to the subcommittee.

.16 Members of the executive committee should review the draft comments and make any appropriate comments to the chairman of the executive committee and the division director. This review must be completed within five days of receipt of the proposed comments from the subcommittee chairman.

.17 The AICPA staff will prepare a final version of the comments based on the decisions of the executive committee and will obtain the approval of the chairman for submission of the final version to the Internal Revenue Service. The staff will also distribute copies of the comments to division members and other interested parties.

.18 If the proposed regulations are of such importance that testimony should be delivered to reinforce written comments, the subcommittee chairman should inform the staff person assigned to the subcommittee in a timely manner so that a request to testify can be submitted. The chairman of the executive committee, or an appointed designee, will testify on behalf of the division.

Review of IRS Rulings

Each technical subcommittee is responsible for reviewing published Internal Revenue Service rulings within its assigned code-section areas. No formal review and comment process applies to these rulings, but if an appropriate ruling comes to the attention of the subcommittee, comments may be developed in a manner similar to that used in developing comments on proposed regulations.

In addition, each technical subcommittee should prepare recommendations of issues that should be the subject of a published ruling and consider the development of a draft ruling for submission to the IRS National Office.

Review of IRS Regulations Projects List

Periodically, the division reviews the list of IRS regulations projects to determine if it believes the priorities of any regulations projects should be changed and to determine if any projects should be commented on before issuance of proposed regulations.

In those areas in which regulations guidance is particularly needed, recommendations should be prepared, generally in question and answer format, for submission to the IRS National Office.

Review of Tax Forms

The Tax Forms Subcommittee meets annually with the staff of the Tax Forms Coordinating Committee of the IRS. At this meeting, the subcommittee presents its annual report of recommendations for revision of tax forms and their related instructions. The report is intended to assist the IRS in developing tax forms that accurately reflect the tax law and are as simple as possible. Division members and state societies are requested to provide suggestions for the report.

The Tax Forms Subcommittee may request the assistance of the technical subcommittees in reviewing specific forms and instructions within their areas of responsibility.

Meetings With Treasury and IRS Officials

As needed, the division schedules meetings with various officials of the Department of the Treasury and the Internal Revenue Service. These meetings are to discuss issues of concern to CPAs in tax practice and to the IRS. Division members are requested to suggest agenda items for such meetings.

The AICPA staff, along with the Tax Administration Subcommittee, maintains a liaison with officials of the Treasury and the IRS in an effort to learn of tax administration developments and to be prepared to comment effectively on various administrative proposals.

Proposals for Revenue Rulings

Subcommittees will prepare suggestions for published revenue rulings to assist the IRS in identifying subjects of interest.

Because the Tax Division will be associated with these subcommittee proposals, executive committee members will have a two-week period in which to review any proposed submission. Publicity of the program should emphasize the project itself, rather than any specific recommendation.

TAX POLICY STATEMENTS

Tax Policy Statements are major statements of the Tax Division on broad tax policy issues. The purpose of these statements is to present the policy of the AICPA on tax matters of broad, general interest in a series of well-researched, clearly written documents. The development of Tax Policy Statements is the responsibility of the Tax Policy Subcommittee working under the direction of the executive committee.

Procedures for Developing Tax Policy Statements

Because of their importance, the division has established the procedures in the following paragraphs for the issuance of Tax Policy Statements.

.19 At present, the technical subcommittees of the Tax Division have basic responsibility for the initiation of legislative proposals and for the development of comments on legislation proposed by Congress, the Treasury, and others.

.20 The recommendations and comments developed by the technical subcommittees must be approved as policy positions by the executive committee as indicated in paragraphs .02–.04.

.21 The Tax Policy Subcommittee is authorized to appoint, with the approval of the executive committee, special task forces composed of a small number (three to five) of members of the Tax Division. Each of these task forces is assigned to undertake research and to prepare a position paper on an area of tax policy that the Tax Policy Subcommittee and the executive committee agree that the Institute should address.

Approval of subjects and task forces requires a vote by the Tax Policy Subcommittee and the executive committee.

.22 In general, the procedures set forth in .19 and .20 above will be followed, even though a task force working under the direction of the Tax Policy Subcommittee may be actively engaged in research on one or more subjects on which a technical subcommittee has adopted a position or is considering a position for approval by the executive committee. All technical subcommittees of the Tax Division will be informed promptly of approved research projects. There may be occasions when the executive committee decides that the final adoption of a legislative recommendation should await the outcome of the research efforts of the Tax Policy Subcommittee. Under such circumstances, the executive committee has sole authority for reaching a decision.

.23 The Tax Policy Subcommittee will consider completed position papers developed by the various task forces with the objective of recommending to the executive committee, upon approval as policy positions by the Tax Policy Subcommittee, the adoption of proposed positions on tax policy.

.24 Before final consideration of a recommendation proposed by the Tax Policy Subcommittee, the executive committee, upon approval as a policy position, will expose the proposed tax policy recommendation to the appropriate technical subcommittee for comment. It will also expose the proposed recommendation to all other members of the Tax Division, the Board of Directors, state society committees on federal taxation, and others as appropriate.

.25 Following exposure of a proposed tax policy recommendation, the executive committee will consider it for adoption. Approval by the executive committee, as a policy position, is required for adoption of the recommendation.

.26 A position adopted by the executive committee resulting from a recommendation of the Tax Policy Subcommittee will remain in force and effect until such time as the executive committee determines that the position should be changed. In arriving at the decision that such a position should be changed, the executive committee will request the advice of the appropriate technical subcommittee and the Tax Policy Subcommittee.

STATEMENTS ON RESPONSIBILITIES IN TAX PRACTICE

The Tax Division promulgates a series of Statements on Responsibilities in Tax Practice that are intended to advise CPAs of the division's opinion on what constitutes good standards of tax practice. The statements are advisory in nature and are not binding on CPAs, as are provisions of the law governing return preparers, rules governing practice before the IRS, and the AICPA Code of Professional Ethics.

Statements on Responsibilities in Tax Practice seek to delineate the extent of a CPA's responsibilities to clients, to the public, to the government, and to the accounting profession. They consider the requirements placed on practitioners by the federal government and the AICPA Code of Professional Ethics and, in light of these, present the division's opinions about what constitutes good standards of responsibility in tax practice.

The purpose of the statements include —

- Identifying and developing appropriate standards of responsibilities in tax practice and promoting their uniform application by CPAs.
- Increasing the understanding of the responsibilities of the CPA by Treasury Department and IRS officials and encouraging the development of similar standards for their personnel.
- Fostering increased public compliance with and confidence in our tax system through awareness of good standards of tax practice.

The division is authorized to make such statements under its general authority to express opinions on matters of policy related to taxation. No other division or committee of the AICPA is authorized to express such opinions in the area of taxation.

Procedures for Developing Responsibilities Statements

Because of the importance of Statements on Responsibilities in Tax Practice, the division has established the following procedures for their issuance.

1. Development of subject. Appropriate subjects for the statements will be developed by the Responsibilities in Tax Practice Subcommittee of the Tax Division (hereinafter referred to only as the "subcommittee").
2. Draft of proposed statements. The subcommittee will prepare the "initial draft" of any proposed statement, generally acting through subgroups.
3. Subcommittee approval of draft statements. The initial draft of a proposed statement requires the approval as a policy position by the subcommittee prior to submission for consideration of the executive committee.
4. Executive committee approval of draft statements. The executive committee will review the initial draft of a proposed statement. If substantive changes are made in the draft, it will be referred back to the subcommittee for reconsideration with a report of the changes and the reasons therefor. This procedure will be followed, where necessary, for successive drafts of a proposed statement. Approval as a policy position by the subcommittee and the executive committee is required before a draft can be submitted for exposure outside the Tax Division.
5. Exposure draft. After appropriate approval by the executive committee, an "exposure draft" will be submitted for comment to the following groups and individuals:
  - a. Members of the Tax Division

- b. Members of the Board of Directors
  - c. Members of the Council of the AICPA
  - d. Chairman of the Professional Ethics Executive Committee
  - e. State society committees on taxation, with information copies to state society presidents and executive directors
  - f. Institute's legal counsel
  - g. Commissioner of Internal Revenue (for information only)
  - h. Director of Practice, Internal Revenue Service (for information only)
6. Publicity for exposure draft. Concurrently with the circulation of the exposure draft to interested parties, notification of the progress of the proposed Statement will be given in the Journal of Accountancy, The Tax Adviser, and The CPA Letter.
  7. Comments on exposure draft. Comments on the exposure draft will be considered by the subcommittee. Revisions will be made when deemed appropriate and a "final draft" prepared. The final draft must be approved by the subcommittee as a policy position.
  8. Advisory poll. The final draft, as approved as a policy position by the subcommittee, will be submitted to the members of the division for an "advisory poll."
  9. Executive committee approval of final draft. The final draft, as approved by the subcommittee, will be considered by the executive committee together with all pertinent data, including results of the advisory poll, comments on the exposure draft, and opinion of legal counsel. If substantive changes are made by the executive committee in the final draft, it will be referred to the subcommittee for reconsideration with a report of changes and the reasons therefor. Approval as a policy position by the subcommittee will be required for the executive committee to consider a "revised final draft."
  10. Published statement. After a final draft of a proposed statement has been approved as a policy position by the executive committee and the subcommittee, it will be deemed ready for publication.
  11. Publicity and distribution of adopted statement. Statements on Responsibilities in Tax Practice that are adopted by the Tax Division will be publicized in The CPA Letter, the Journal of Accountancy, and The Tax Adviser. A copy of each statement will be distributed to the Institute's member firms and individual practitioners. All other members may obtain one copy of each statement on request.
  12. Amendments. The procedures described for development of a new statement shall be observed in considering amendment of any statement previously issued by the division.

Dissents

Any member of the subcommittee or the executive committee who votes against a final draft of a proposed statement will have the following options if the final draft is approved:

GENERAL PROCEDURES AND STRUCTURE

1. No action may be taken, in which case the draft will be published as a statement approved as a policy position by the subcommittee and the executive committee, without reporting the specific vote.
2. Recognition of dissent may be requested, in which case the statement will be published with a note recording such member's dissent from the statement.
3. Publication of the dissenting opinion may be requested, in which case a brief explanation of the dissent, supplied by the dissenter, will be published with the statement.

Division's Authority to Interpret General Standards of the Profession as Being Applicable to Tax Practice

Generally, inquiries from Institute members and nonmembers requesting clarification or interpretation of a published statement will be referred to the subcommittee for disposition. At the discretion of the chairman of the subcommittee, its members or the Institute staff will be requested to draft replies to the inquiries.

The following statement was made by the AICPA Board of Directors at its meeting on May 8, 1981:

Inquiries have been raised as to the authority of the Federal Taxation Division Executive Committee to interpret the general standards of the profession as they apply to tax practice. The answer is that it does have that authority.

The bylaws authorize the Council to designate certain committees as "senior committees." There are presently twelve committees designated as "senior." The Federal Taxation Division Executive Committee was one of the first to be so designated.

Council has designated seven of the twelve senior committees as "senior technical committees" authorized to make public statements on matters related to their area of practice, without prior clearance with the Council or the Board of Directors. The more than one hundred other AICPA committees report to the Board of Directors and any public statements of these committees must be cleared by the board. Once again, the Federal Taxation Division Executive Committee was one of the first to be designated as a "senior technical committee" authorized to speak publicly without prior clearance.

Under the AICPA bylaws, these designations unquestionably make the Federal Taxation Division Executive Committee the Institute's chief representative, and spokesman, on tax matters. Its authority to speak publicly on matters in its area of responsibility without prior clearance is not diminished by the fact that it has not asked Council for specific authority to interpret general standards as set forth in Rule 201 or to establish standards under Rule 204.

The adoption of Rule 201 had no direct effect on the existing Statements on Responsibilities in Tax Practice or the ability of the Federal Taxation Division Executive Committee to continue the series by issuing additional Statements. What Rule 201 provided was a vehicle by which a committee could request designation so that its interpretations of the general standards would be enforceable under the Code. Its pronouncements, however, are expressive of the best thinking of the only committee charged with representing AICPA in the field of federal taxation. Further, no other body within the AICPA, save only the Professional Ethics Division, is authorized to interpret the standards of the profession as they relate to tax practice.

THE TAX ADVISER

The Tax Adviser is a monthly publication for tax practitioners published by the AICPA. The editor of The Tax Adviser is a member of the AICPA staff. The editor and the division director are assisted in planning and policy decisions and are assisted in obtaining and reviewing articles by the Editorial Advisory Board of The Tax Adviser.

The Tax Adviser seeks to provide useful information for the tax practitioner at a sophisticated level and frequently reports on the activities of the Tax Division.

Subcommittee Articles

To aid The Tax Adviser, each subcommittee within the division is responsible for producing and submitting to the magazine at least one article per year. While it is hoped that each of the subcommittees will accomplish this on a voluntary basis, subcommittee chairmen should assign members of their subcommittees to meet this obligation in the event that no volunteers are available.

TAX DIVISION NEWSLETTER

The Tax Division produces a quarterly newsletter, written and edited by the staff, that is distributed to all members. Members are encouraged to contribute either newsworthy items or practical advice to the staff for possible publication in the newsletter.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON FEDERAL TAXES

The Tax Division assists the Continuing Professional Education Division in conducting an annual National Conference on Federal Taxes to further the tax knowledge of CPAs. The conference generally addresses a major tax theme of current interest to CPAs and features individual speakers or panels that discuss important aspects of the theme. The emphasis of the conference is on practical planning suggestions, and all speakers submit outlines for publication. Panels are comprised of government officials, division members, and other outstanding CPAs in tax practice. The conference is held for two days, in the fall, in Washington, D.C. The Tax Education Subcommittee and the division staff assist in the preparation for the conference.

ESTATE PLANNING CONFERENCE

The Tax Division and the Continuing Professional Education Division jointly sponsor an annual Family Tax and Estate Planning Conference. This is an advanced level program designed specifically to help CPAs serve their individual clients more successfully. Responsibility for this conference is on a steering committee, which has members from the Tax Education and Estate Planning Subcommittees of the Tax Division as well as the AICPA Continuing Professional Education Division.

GENERAL PROCEDURES AND STRUCTURE

MEETINGS

Generally, the division (including all constituent subcommittees) meets twice a year, in May and December. Additional division meetings or separate meetings of the executive committee or of constituent subcommittees may be scheduled as needed.

It has been the policy of the division to hold each May meeting in Washington, D.C., in order to have a greater opportunity for contact with federal representatives and other tax experts at division meetings.

The Board of Directors has approved the following criteria to be used in the selection of sites for meetings of Institute committees.

Except in unusual circumstances, the meetings should be held at sites that—

1. Minimize the time and distance of travel of a majority of committee members and staff.
2. Are readily accessible by air transportation.
3. Are reasonably accessible from airports by public transportation.
4. Provide good accommodations at a reasonable cost.
5. Are unlikely to detract from the success of the meeting because of the surroundings.
6. May coincide with the site of another meeting at which the majority of committee members will be in attendance.
7. Accommodate the needs of other groups with which the committee must meet to conduct its business.

Resort area sites may be utilized if they meet all of the above criteria. If it appears necessary to depart from these guidelines, the decision to do so requires a two-thirds vote of the committee affected and should be cleared with the president of the AICPA.

Executive committee meetings that are open to the public are generally held in major metropolitan areas.

Hotel reservation cards will be sent to all division members approximately two months in advance of meetings.

Public Attendance at Meetings

Executive committee meetings are open to the public, except for certain closed sessions where internal administrative work will be done. Announcements of open meetings of the executive committee are published about one month in advance of the meeting in The CPA Letter, along with a tentative agenda. The public does not have the privilege of the floor at open meetings, but will be given, to the extent available, copies of material relevant to the discussion and, at the discretion of the chairman, may be invited to comment.

Plenary sessions at division meetings are open to the public. Subcommittee meetings are not open to the public but are open to Tax Division members who are associated with them. In addition, subcommittee chairmen may invite individuals who have a particular interest in a specific issue to attend portions of their meetings.

GENERAL PROCEDURES AND STRUCTURE

Minutes of Meetings

A member of the subcommittee should be appointed at the beginning of the meeting to record the minutes. That member will be responsible for the submission of minutes to the chairman of the subcommittee and the responsible AICPA staff member within two weeks after completion of the meeting. The chairman or staff member will then review the minutes, make any corrections, and circulate a copy to all individuals on the subcommittee correspondence-distribution list for any further corrections or comments.

The minutes should generally conform to the following format:

1. Minutes should be numbered and titled in the same manner as the meeting agenda. Items on the agenda that are not covered in the meeting should be noted in the minutes. Additional items not listed on the agenda should be recorded at the end of the minutes.
2. The minutes should contain a thorough explanation of the deliberations of the subcommittee and any future action necessary.
3. The minutes should record attendance at the meeting, including members present, staff members, and guests. This record should be at the beginning of the minutes.
4. When submitted, a title page should be included that is identical to the agenda title page with the exception that the word “minutes” is substituted for the word “agenda.”

If a staff member is present for the entire subcommittee meeting, he or she will prepare the minutes and highlights of the meeting.

Subcommittee chairmen will submit “highlights” summaries of their meetings at the executive committee meeting on the final day of the division meeting or, if not held in conjunction with a division meeting, within one week after completion of the subcommittee meeting. The “highlights” will be submitted to the responsible AICPA staff member for distribution.

Inquiries and Recommendations Submitted to the Division

All Tax Division members are encouraged to participate actively in the division. Members should submit issues of concern to them, including—

- Recommendations for amendments to the Internal Revenue Code.
- Issues to recommend to the Internal Revenue Service that need clarification in published pronouncements.
- Comments concerning Revenue Rulings or other administrative decisions that are not in the best interests of simple, effective tax administration.
- Administrative matters that should be brought to the attention of the Internal Revenue Service.

GENERAL PROCEDURES AND STRUCTURE

- Suggestions for changes in Treasury Regulations, published Revenue Rulings, and tax forms and instructions.
- Matters related to the educational needs of a CPA in tax practice.
- Matters related to standards of good tax practice for CPAs.
- Matters related to the scope and management of a tax practice.
- Policy positions of the AICPA in the area of taxes.

The staff will solicit such inquiries from division members and state societies and will assign them to the responsible subcommittee for consideration. In all cases, inquiries will be responded to in a timely and effective manner. Division members are encouraged to submit such inquiries to their own subcommittees and to other subcommittees of the division.

Reimbursement of Expenses for Appointed Members

AICPA members who have elected to join the Tax Division are not entitled to expense reimbursement unless they have been appointed to and are attending a meeting of a committee, subcommittee, or task force. At its May 12, 1981 meeting, the Council of the Institute adopted the following policy with respect to reimbursement of expenses for appointed members in attending meetings.

All members of Council, boards, committees, subcommittees, and task forces (hereinafter "committees") are urged to devote the time necessary to fulfill the commitment associated with their acceptance of appointment. To enable all to do so and to alleviate unintended burdens, the policy of the Institute is to allow reimbursement of actual expenses only of those members whose attendance at meetings would cause significant disruption to the professional practice, business or other activities in which they are involved. Members do not qualify for reimbursement where committee participation has no such significant effect.

Requests for reimbursement will automatically be considered as coming from those who qualify for reimbursement. There will be no disclosure of names of those to whom reimbursement is made.

Reimbursement will be made for expenses incurred in connection with attendance at committee meetings as follows:

1. Reimbursement for transportation costs is limited to coach fare (unless unavailable) or its equivalent.
2. Reimbursement for other out-of-pocket expenses is confined to costs of local transportation, lodging, meals, and tips, not to exceed an amount to be established from time to time by the Board of Directors. Cost of telephone bills, cleaning, entertainment and other expenses will not be reimbursed.
3. Expensive methods of surface travel should be avoided. For example, unless a meeting is being held in a particularly remote location (a rare occurrence), costs of car rental will not be reimbursed.
4. Since all members are expected to attend the annual meeting at their own expense, no reimbursement will be made for attending meetings held in conjunction with the annual meeting.

GENERAL PROCEDURES AND STRUCTURE

Requests for reimbursement ordinarily should be submitted within sixty days after the meeting. In no event, however, will requests for reimbursement be honored for meetings during a fiscal year if submitted more than thirty days after the close of that fiscal year that ends on July 31. To maintain confidentiality, requests for reimbursement, accompanied by receipts, copies of tickets, and other supporting documentation should be sent directly to the Controller at the AICPA's headquarters (1211 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10036-8775).

Relations With State Societies

The Tax Division maintains liaison with the tax committees of the various state societies through an ombudsman appointed by the executive committee. This liaison is intended to provide a mutual benefit to the state societies and the AICPA in various tax matters of common interest.

Relations With Other Organizations

The executive committee appoints a liaison representative to maintain relations with other organizations, primarily the Section of Taxation of the American Bar Association. These good relations facilitate the development of issues that are of interest to the division and the various other organizations.

Comments on Proposed Amendments to Treasury Regulations Section 1.993 (f)-(h)
Regarding Energy Resources and Certain Other Products

Submitted to the Internal Revenue Service
August 12, 1976

GENERAL COMMENTS

The proposed amendments to the regulations under section 993(c)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code are intended to conform such regulations to statutory amendments contained in the Tax Reduction Act of 1975, relating to the denial of DISC benefits with respect to energy resources and other products. These amendments to the regulations contain a series of very complex rules designed to define (1) primary products from oil, gas, coal, or uranium and (2) 50-percent manufactured or processed products. In several respects, as explained in the Specific Comments set forth below, these rules would deny DISC benefits for products that should not be treated as excluded property under Code section 993(c)(2).

The below-referenced proposed regulations do contain the option of applying either a cost test or a fair-market-value test in determining whether at least 50 percent of the fair market value of a product is attributable to manufacturing or processing. Since the statute is silent on determining how this 50-percent requirement is to be met, the allowance of this option should be considered as a concept favorable to taxpayers.

We suggest that the proposed amendments be revised accordingly.

SPECIFIC COMMENTS

1.

Section 1.933-(g)(3)(v)	This section provides that the specific primary oil, gas, coal, and uranium products which are not entitled to DISC benefits and related processes set forth in the foregoing subdivisions do not represent the only primary products or related processes from which primary products may be derived under existing and future technologies. This general statement is too vague to be a useful guide to taxpayers. For example, the last sentence of section 1.933-3(g)(3)(i) provides that petrochemicals are not considered primary products from oil, but gives no rationale for this conclusion. Concrete standards or tests should be provided to enable taxpayers to make objective conclusions and to determine what products may in the future be treated as primary products.

1.933-3(g)(4) (iv)(b)(2)	The last sentence of this subdivision provides that if the cost test is used in determining whether a product containing a depletable product qualifies as a 50-percent manufactured or processed product, the cost at the cut-off point which is to be used is to be increased to the extent of the cost of any process other than transportation applied after the cut-off point, which would be a mining process were it applied before such point.

This rule seems harsh and should be modified to apply only in the case of a mining process applied after the cut-off point which is ordinarily applied prior to the cut-off point. Otherwise, a taxpayer acting in good faith would be unduly penalized.

3.

1.993-3(g)(4)
(vi)(c)

This subdivision provides that the fair market value at cut-off point shall be adjusted to reflect certain increases in the value of the mineral or timber content of products. Since such increases do not generate tax benefit from percentage depletion, they should not be taken into account in applying the 50-percent test.

4.

(vi)(d)

The example set forth in this subdivision explains how certain increases in value of mineral content should be taken into account in applying the 50-percent test. Instead of exemplifying this particular principle, to which we object as explained in item 3 (above), it would be preferable to provide examples showing the application of the cost and fair-market-value tests in operation.

5.

This section provides that no substantiation is required to establish that either the cost test or the fair-market-value test has been met as long as it is “reasonably obvious” that either test is satisfied. It goes on to provide that where satisfaction of either test is not “reasonably obvious,” a DISC will be required to substantiate the gross income properly allocable to each depletable product contained in a product. These provisions are exceedingly vague. This section should be redrafted to provide some guidelines or mechanical tests in substitution of the phrase “reasonably obvious,” and examples should be provided for taxpayers’ guidance.

6.

The second-to-last line of this section contains a typographical error — the word “and” is improperly spaced.
